The descent is certain from weak lungs, lingering coughs, throat troubles or bronchial affections through bleeding lungs, to consumption, if the first stages are neglected. Thousands of people who are now in their graves could be alive and well to-day if they had heeded the first warnings of those troubles which lead to consumption and death.
The hacking cough, spitting of blood, weak lungs, and all similar troubles of the organs of breathing, if they are not already the signs of it. Then there are the other indications of the approach of consumption, such as night sweats, emaciation, or wasting away of flesh from bad nutrition, which, if neglected, lead to certain death.
Ninety-eight per cent of all the cases of weak lungs, bleeding lungs, lingering and obstinate coughs, and other bronchial and throat diseases, which have been treated with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, have been cured by it. Do not wait until your throat trouble becomes serious. All bronchial and throat troubles are serious. The time to take the "Golden Medical Discovery" is right at the start.
Even if your throat trouble has been neglected until it has been pronounced pulmonary disease or consumption, do not hesitate to use the "Golden Medical Discovery" for thousands of letters from the sufferers themselves, who are now well, bear evidence that the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure, even after good physicians have pronounced the disease pulmonary consumption.
"I had been troubled with bronchitis for several years," writes Mrs. Orlin O'Hara, Box 12, Pergus Falls, Ottertail Co., Minn. "In the first place, I had sore throat. I doctored with different physicians and took various medicines, but got no relief. I raised from my throat a sticky substance like the white of an egg. Could not sleep, and had made up my mind that I would not live through the winter. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' alternately, and in a few days began to feel better. I took eight bottles. I have not felt as well in years as since using these medicines."
Unfailing—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation and biliousness.

SUMMONS.

IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe County.

The State of Nevada sends to C. H. Gardner, David T. Jones and W. T. Burnham, Greer.

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant, by A. J. Foster as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons, exclusively, or twenty days if served out of the county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The complaint is brought to recover against you a decree to foreclose a mortgage made by C. H. Gardner on the following mentioned and described real property, to-wit: South half of the west one hundred feet of lot six in block "U" and lot 5 in block "V" in the town of Reno, Washoe county, State of Nevada, five in said block "U" in the mortgage which five in block "V" which mortgage when recorded appeared of record including the mistake that shows said lot 5 to be a part of block "U" and not a part of block "V" as in fact it is, also to procure an order of court directing a sale of the above mentioned property for the purpose of paying the money due on said mortgage note to the sum of $1893 and $1,100 dollars, including interest accrued and unpaid, and the costs made by the defendant Gardner on the 14th day of October, 1898, and by its terms provides for interest on the money thereby represented at the rate of 8 per cent per annum interest payable semi-annually. That said note and the interest thereon accrued and remaining unpaid is said sum of $1893.31-100; also should there be insufficient to pay said indebtedness a judgment is sought for any unpaid remainder after payment of costs and charges of foreclosure and sale. It is alleged in the complaint that there is a mistake in the description of the property mortgaged and the mistake is sought to be corrected by order and decree of court, and that the defendant Gardner has made and decreed of court directing a sale of the property mortgaged, and after sale made that the cost and charges of foreclosure and sale including the costs made by the defendant Gardner be made parties defendant and that they and each of them be required to answer the complaint, showing any right they or either of them may claim in the mortgage property. All of which will more fully appear from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded.
In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court, at Reno, this 1st day of February, A. D. 1899.
F. B. PORTER,
Clerk of the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe County. 12-3w.

Jungle Food and Jungle Poison.

Those who have traveled much through the damp jungles of India, such as the Terai, cannot have helped noticing the large amount of fungoid growth, both terrestrial and epiphytial, that presents itself, much of which is edible, but requires an intimate acquaintance with botany to determine between the poisonous and unpoisonous. What were not long since considered semisavage races on the northeast frontier are the best guides the uninitiated, however, can employ to distinguish the two classes. So close is the resemblance that it would be dangerous for the ignorant traveler to trust to his own unaided discrimination, and if the services of a human nomad are not available the fungi should be submitted to the equally an fair judgment of a tame monkey—a thing no traveler should be without.
The animal must be very closely watched when sitting in judgment, especial notice being taken of his countenance. If the specimen is poisonous, there is a decided look of disgust apparent, as the creature throws it from him, but if nonpoisonous it is torn into fragments, first emelled and then transferred to the mouth, in which case one may rest perfectly satisfied that it is edible, even though "jackoo" may not eat it. In no case will our remote connections make a mistake, nor, for that matter, will an elephant either. A spare elephant or two is also a handy thing to have among your luggage.—Indian Planter's Gazette.

Tricks of a Pet Crane.

My friend has a pet Florida crane of which he is very fond. The crane stands at one side by the hour, just pluming himself, then picking at shoe buttons and finger rings. Occasionally he is indulged in a favorite pastime—that of taking the hairpins out of his mistress's hair. In nature he is as gentle and affectionate as a kitten, and as he has never been teased he has no enmity for anything except a dog. One night he was attacked by a strange dog, and since then his hatred for any canine other than the home dog is intense.

Dick has always been inordinately fond of his master, whom he makes every effort to please. It is at his command that he will dance, bowing and twirling in the most graceful manner; then circling with wings distended around the yard and back again to bow and courtesy as before.

Another very pleasing recognition of his intelligence is the manner in which he always welcomes his owner. He recognizes his horse and carriage as far as his eye can reach, and long before the bird is in view his voice is heard trumpeting a greeting, which is continued until the master reaches the gate, when at the single command, "Louder, Dick!" he throws his head back and gives forth a long gurgling note, indicating joy and pleasure. To no one else will he give this welcome. It is unique and peculiar—for his owner alone.—Forest and Stream.

Types of Husbands to Avoid.

There are two distinct types of husbands who do more harm than they would be willing to admit—the man who permits himself to become a generous figurehead in his own family, rarely holding a conversation with his wife or children, good naturedly responding to any extravagance for the sake of peace, and the man who, though conspicuous in the church and community, tyrannizes over his family in small things until, for the sake of peace, they deceive him on every hand.—Frances Evans in Ladies' Home Journal.

THE OFFICIAL FIGURES.

Senator Flanigan stated at Carson that the City Council of Reno had squandered more than $25,000, for which there was nothing to show. To show that the gentleman is mistaken in his assertion, the JOURNAL publishes the following statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Council, during the years of 1897 and 98. The figures speak for themselves:

The City Council took office on first Monday in April, 1897.

It will be seen by the above that most of the expenditures were for purposes which would necessarily have been incurred by the County Commissioners under the general town incorporation act, such as expenses of the fire department, sewers, streets, Justice Court, etc. In fact, the other expenses were chiefly for necessary surveying and experiment work in the matter of ascertaining the best location for the water source of the new works, and the employment of special council, made necessary by the obstructive litigation inaugurated by the Reno Water Company.

Doubtless Senator Flanigan was led into his mistaken statement by such misrepresentation as caused many of the 180 signers of the disincorporation petition to affix their signatures to that document. He will certainly see by the above figures, from official source, that the City Council has not squandered $25,000, or any other sum, with nothing to show for it.

TWO SIDES TO THE QUESTION.

The land bill was defeated in the Assembly by a small majority. It proposed to reduce the interest on the indebtedness of purchasers from six to four per cent per annum. Notwithstanding the fierce and intemperate denunciation of the measure by a portion of the press, there were certainly a sides to the question. Four years ago the same question was agitated when the Legislature was in session, and if it had been adopted at that time, it is our opinion that the State would be deriving more revenue from that source than it is at the present time. Since then thousands upon thousands of acres of land have been abandoned because of the high rate of interest, upon which the State has lost the annual payments as well as the interest on the abandoned acres. As most of the abandoned land is worthless, because of lack of water for stock, but a small portion has been relocated, while the owners of the unadandoned portions are still enjoying the same privilege of pasturage as before.

We understand that many large land owners now intend to make further abandonments for the same reason. The only question for the legislators to consider was, whether under the higher or lower rate of interest the State would derive eventually the largest amount of money, whether from non or actual residents of Nevada. The writer of this happened to be the introducer of the original bill and remembers well that even in those comparatively flush times, the discussion was principally upon the adoption of the present rate or that proposed in the defeated bill, which is the same as that paid on the State bonds.

Certainly the conditions have changed since the enactment of the original law in '83 or '85, and perhaps since 1895, when, in our judgment, the reduction of the rate would have been a wise act upon the part of the Legislature. Considering the high price of beef at the present time and the abandonment of so large an acreage, which would not probably be relocated under the lower rate, it may be that the present Legislature was wise in continuing the old rate. But at all events, it was a question upon which intelligent men could honestly differ, and there is no cause for attributing dishonest motives to those whose votes are recorded upon either side.

The Virginia Report says there are but two newspapers in the State that "fought the Newlands good fight" without price. Granting that to be true, the Newlands beat the Stewart press by a pair.

From the Klondike.

H. J. Pratt, who left Reno for the Alaska gold fields last year, has located and is working a good paying claim near Grand Forks, on El Dorado Creek, about fourteen miles above Dawson City. The dirt he has taken out runs from 25 cents to $7 per pan. About $250,000 was taken out in one month from the claim adjoining his on the lower side, while on the claim above his $9,000 was taken out in a single day.

Mr. Pratt sent a package of bright gold nuggets to his family in Reno as a sample of Klondike riches. The nuggets are worth about $50.

Mr. Pratt is very favorably impressed with the country, and has sent for his son, M. E. Pratt, who is a student at the State University, to join him at Dawson City and assist in working the several mining claims he has located.

University Athletics.

Base ball seems to be the chief sport at present and squads may be seen every evening at work upon the diamond. The preparation is for class contests as no intercollegiate games have been arranged this season.

No hard training for track and field events has commenced, but preparations are being made to get down to steady work in the near future. The outlook for a meet with the Berkeley Freshmen is good, providing the terms of transportation can be agreed upon. The meet will take place in Reno.

Basket ball practice continues and it is thought if the girls maintain their present spirit they will vanquish the team from Berkeley.

Important to Working Men.

Only Two Men Know the Trick.

There is one expert in Philadelphia who, it is safe to say, stands entirely alone in his specialty. He is James Toughill, who has charge of the piling of coin bags at the subtreasury. Not only does he have charge of the piling of the bags, but he does it all himself, for there is a secret connected with this work that is known to only one man in the country besides the Philadelphia expert.

It does not seem at first glance to be a very difficult task, but those who have tried it and failed can be counted by hundreds, while the first man to do the work properly without a knowledge of the secret having been imparted to him is yet to be named. Not so many years ago there was only one person in the country who could do the work. Where he obtained his exclusive knowledge no one knows. On a trip to Philadelphia he met Toughill and the two became fast friends. As a mark of his esteem the original expert taught Toughill the art of piling up money securely, and that is as far as the knowledge has been extended.

The work consists of piling up bags containing 1,000 silver dollars each as high as the vault will permit. When built by the experts this silver wall is as solid and substantial as if built of bricks and mortar, and it is well this is so. If one of these walls should be constructed on wrong principles it would surely fall, and a fall usually means serious injury to some one. Many men have been hurt in attempting to learn the art, and now Toughill and his friend, who is in the west, occupy the field alone.—Philadelphia Record.

Didn't Lose His Head.

Prince Louis Esterhazy, military attaché of the Austrian embassy at London, was traveling alone in an English railway, when an elegantly dressed woman entered the carriage. Presently she dropped her handkerchief and employed other expedients to start a conversation, but without avail, for the prince tranquilly smoked his cigar and took no notice of her. At last as the train approached a station the woman suddenly tore her hat from her head, disheveled her hair and as the train came to a standstill put her head out of the window and shrieked for assistance.

The railroad officials hurried to the scene, and to them the woman asserted that she had been terribly insulted by the prince. The prince did not stir from his seat, but continued tranquilly smoking his cigar, and the station master exclaimed, "What have you got to say to this charge?"

Without the slightest appearance of concern the prince, who was seated in the farther corner of the carriage, replied, "Only this," and with that he pointed to his cigar, which showed a beautiful gray ash considerably over an inch in length.

The station master was wise in his generation, and on perceiving the ash on the prince's cigar he touched his hat and said quietly, "That's all right, sir," and arrested the woman instead.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Lady Henry's Statuette.

Lady Henry Somerset has modeled a statuette of Miss Willard. It is about 18 inches high and represents Miss Willard in the attitude so characteristic of her as she used to stand on the platform. Lady Henry has fully reproduced her fine features and beautifully shaped head. A number of the casts of the statuette are on sale. The proceeds will be devoted to the Duxhurst homes.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

We have heard of the boy who wanted to eat his cake and keep it too, but never before of a business man who sold his goods and then gave the purchaser credit for the amount paid. To learn about this send to JAMES VICKS & SONS, of Rochester N. Y., who agree to do this in their guide. The golden wedding edition of Vicks' garden and floral guide is certainly an artistic work its twenty-four pages lithographed in colors, and nearly one hundred more page filled with handsome half-tone illustrations photographed from flowers, fruits, vegetables and home.
While this Guide is really too expensive to give away, they give it with a due bill for 25 cent worth of seeds for 15 cents. Another new feature is the doing away with the old packet of vegetable seeds and stating the quantity in in each case, the buyer getting more for his money.

DIFFERENT WITH THE GOVERNOR.

At the meeting Saturday night Senator Flanigan of Washoe said in a speech that he "didn't give a d— for the votes of tramps and hobos."
The Governor at once got the floor and turned loose:
"Poor people can always vote for me and so can unfortunate people. When I run for office I am glad of all the votes I can get—tramps, hobos, hoodlums and home-rulers."
This rally brought down the house and the audience cheered the sentiment.—Appeal.
